

REBECCA DAVIS

Rebecca Davis is definitely present with nature and her work goes forward to prove this very fact. Her paintings reflect an admiration of nature and humanity's attempt to balance its role as steward of the environment with an innate desire to control it.

Bold in color, these paintings remind us of the very breathtaking mix of beauty that we see everyday that we step outside of our city limits.

